INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors
International Council for Small Business
Washington, D.C.

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of the International Council for Small Business (a nonprofit organization) which comprise the statement of financial position as of March 31, 2014, and the related statements of activities, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the International Council for Small Business as of March 31, 2014 and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

March 31, 2014

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, ORGANIZATION AND PURPOSE

Description of Organization

Founded in 1955, the International Council for Small Business (ICSB) was the first international membership organization to promote the growth and development of small businesses worldwide. ICSB brings together educators, researchers, policy makers and practitioners from around the world to share knowledge and expertise in their respective fields.

Basis of Accounting

ICSB prepares its financial statements using the accrual basis of accounting. Under the accrual basis, revenues are recognized when earned rather than when collected, expenses are recognized when incurred rather than when paid, and capital acquisitions are recognized when the obligation is incurred rather than paid.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash consists of a non-interest bearing checking accounts. There were no cash equivalents at the end of the year.

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable are reported at their outstanding balances billed. ICSB classifies all accounts receivable as current assets. ICSB provides an allowance for doubtful accounts based upon a review of outstanding receivables, historical collection information, and existing economic conditions. Accounts receivable are considered past due after 30 days.

Property

Property is recorded at cost and depreciation is calculated on the straight-line method over estimated useful lives. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which range from three to five years.

Intangible Assets

In 2005, ICSB purchased the JSBM publication ownership right. In accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, after January 1, 2010, the intangible is not amortized since it has an indefinite life. Instead, it is tested for impairment.

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, ORGANIZATION AND PURPOSE (Continued)

Deferred Revenue

Amounts received in advance for JSBM publication and future conferences are deferred and recognized in the year to which they apply.

Classes of Assets

In accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, net assets are classified into three categories: unrestricted net assets, temporarily restricted net assets, and permanently restricted net assets.

Unrestricted net assets- Net assets that are not subject to donor-imposed stipulations.

Temporarily restricted net assets - Net assets subject to donor-imposed stipulations that may or will be met either by actions of the Organization and/or the passage of time.

There were no permanently restricted net assets as of March 31, 2014.

Income Taxes

ICSB is exempt from federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and applicable state law. However, income derived from activities unrelated to the Organizations's exempt purpose is taxable under the Code. ICSB had no unrelated business income for the year ended March 31, 2014.

ICSB's Forms 990, Return of Organization Exempt from Income Tax, that have been filed as of March 31, 2014, for fiscal years 2013, 2012, and 2011 are subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service, generally for three years after they were filed.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Functional Allocation of Expenses

Expenses are charged directly to programs based on specific identification. Indirect expenses have been allocated to programs and general and administrative expenses based on level of effort.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

March 31, 2014

6. JOURNAL INCOME - JSBM

ICSB has entered into a publishing agreement with Wiley-Blackwell. Under this agreement, Wiley-Blackwell is responsible for publication of the journal 4 times a year. ICSB receives $20,000 stipend, which is adjusted by the Consumer Price Index, and 30% of all non-member subscriptions revenue and non-subscription income after deducting costs for printing and shipping. Total journal income for the year ended March 31, 2014 was $106,625.

In connection with the purchase of the ownership of JSBM publication in July 2005 as described in Note 5, ICSB received $325,000 payment from Blackwell Publishing, Inc. In exchange for this payment, Blackwell Publishing, Inc. receives certain percentage of subscription revenue and royalty income on quarterly JSBM publications over a 10.5 year period. ICSB recognizes $325,000 journal income over 10.5 years under the accrual method of accounting. ICSB recognized $30,952 for the year ended March 31, 2014 which is included in the above journal income.
